

Alabama Moving companies

Contributed by Mike
Sunday, 25 November 2007
Last Updated Saturday, 24 May 2008

Alabama is in the southern region of USA and is bordered by Georgia to the east, Tennessee to the north, Mississippi to the west, and Florida & the Gulf of Mexico to the south. The state nicknamed the Yellowhammer state, which is also the name of the state bird & is also known as the "Heart of Dixie." Alabama has the second largest inland waterway system in the country with the state being 23rd in terms of amount of surface water. A total area of 52,423 square miles makes Alabama the 30th largest state in the country. Alabama is proud to be the home of largest industrial growth corridor in the country, inclusive of the surrounding states of Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Florida. State has seen most of its growth in the expanding automotive manufacturing industry which, since 1993 has produced 67,800 new jobs. Right now the state is 2nd behind Detroit in automobile output. But is expected to surpass Detroit & become the biggest builder of automobiles by 2009. Moving is always a highly stressful affair, with numerous details to be looked into & hundreds of things to be taken care of. Under such circumstances, experienced & reliable Alabama movers can help reduce your stress level dramatically. A high percentage of Alabama moving companies offer pre-move counseling & useful planning aids so as to make the day-by-day activities related to your move easy. Many AL Movers, to help you get your belongings to the destination safely and professionally, can provide you with all the essential packing supplies. These AL moving companies can your packing supplies on the day of your move or ship them to you before your move. Some Alabama moving companies also provide services such as free shipping of essential packing supplies straight to your door all across the nation. Alabama moving companies have the reputation that they can unload as carefully as they load your belongings, putting all things exactly where you want them to be after they arrive at your new house. In a situation where your new house is not ready when you arrive, a moving company agent in your area can store your possessions in carefully packed containers securely at his ware-house. Accuracy, reliability, safety, professionalism and courtesy, these are what you can expect when you select the right Alabama movers. AL Movers know that every move is different, & that is why all moving services are personalized to meet each family's unique needs. To make sure that these needs are recognized and met, an experienced move coordinator can be arranged by Alabama moving companies, who can be your single-point-of-contact for counsel with regards to all your moving related issues. Moving can be demanding. In case you are moving for the first time, you are likely to face lot many problems. With correct planning, arrangements made in advance & a comprehensive assessment of Alabama movers operating in the region you can be certain of a smooth move.